

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In the case that the user takes out the disc and uses the disc as a single unit, a history of taking out the disc is left in the disc cartridge, and in a state that the user does not positively perform a handling of the disc such as a movement of the disc between the disc cartridges, a history of taking out the disc is not left in the disc cartridge. A cartridge of the invention is provided with locking means for locking an insertion and removal port opening and closing member which opens and closes a disc insertion and removal port, and locking cancellation preventing means for preventing the locking means from canceling the locking.

25490-042550

